Spring in the Conejo is always a wonderful time of year, but, with all of the rain we've had, it’s going to be exciting to see what Mother Nature has in store for us. I’ve already seen streams and waterfalls that I never knew existed. The hills are vibrant greens and I expect we’ll see an explosion of colorful flowers like we haven’t seen in years.

I can’t wait to hike and run the local trails to check it all out. The flora of the Santa Monica Mountains is abundant and amazingly varied. Our Conejo365 photography team will be everywhere this spring to capture all of the beauty and bring it to you.

In case you are not aware, we post a new picture taken by a local photographer on Facebook and Instagram every Thursday. It’s part of our “Here is What’s Happening This Weekend in the Conejo” email that we send out on Thursdays, which is the most up-to-date info on all the great events taking place in our local communities.

If you would like to receive this email, please email us, call us OR register on our website at www.conejo365.com under our Contact Page. Also, we encourage you to add your event to the mix right on our website to get the word out.

Conejo365 is a community service, provided free of charge to everyone in the area thanks to the support of our advertisers. We owe them a huge “Thank you” for making this all possible. They truly make a difference. Please show them your appreciation and shop local!

Hope to see you on the trails!

Sincerely,

Mike Corridori

P.S. Check out the inside back cover of Conejo365. You’ll find a listing of local restaurants and tasting rooms that we call Eat & Drink Conejo. If you are interested in having your business listed in Eat & Drink Conejo, please contact me directly at mike@conejo365.com.
